Rev Jeff's message

There is an interesting discussion to be had as to which drink is most refreshing on a hot day. Some people reckon that a hot drink actually cools the body down in warm conditions; I am not convinced! Surely a long glass of something with ice cubes in it must be more effective in reducing one's temperature? Whichever, none of us would go for a cold drink that has been left in a hot place for a while or a hot drink left to go cold – although I am partial to an iced coffee which is the best of both worlds for me!

There is such a thing as a “spiritual temperature” and similar principles apply. In the Book of Revelation the apostle John has an encounter with the glorified Christ who gives him messages for seven churches of the day. To the one at Laodicea Jesus condemns them for being neither hot nor cold. He says they are lukewarm and as such He will spit them out of His mouth. What would He say to us as individuals, as a church or as the Torbay Circuit? What is our temperature?
